

THE HILLIARD-SIZEMORE RESEARCH COURSE ON AFRICAN AMERICANS AND EDUCATION

APRIL 8, 2026 | LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA

The Asa G. Hilliard III and Barbara A. Sizemore Research Course on African Americans and Education pairs early career scholars and advanced graduate students directly with some of the most respected researchers in the field to explore questions and methods related to expanding opportunities and improving the experiences of African Americans in education.

During the annual, one-day course, participants are exposed to the fundamentals of developing a research agenda and career focused on conducting research on African American populations in education. Any scholar whose primary research focus is related to broadening opportunities and improving outcomes for African Americans in education may apply to participate.

CO-DIRECTORS:

JERLANDO F. L. JACKSON, PHD

Dean, Michigan State University
College of Education

CHANCE W. LEWIS, PHD

Distinguished Professor of Urban Education,
University of North Carolina- Charlotte

LEARN MORE & REGISTER:
orgdislab.com/hilliard-sizemore-course

SUPPORT THE 2026 HILLIARD-SIZEMORE RESEARCH COURSE

The Hilliard-Sizemore Research Course offers four sponsorship levels for organizations and individuals interested in supporting our mission – developing the next generation of scholars and researchers making impactful contributions to the study of African Americans in education.

$2,500 Vendor Sponsorship

$1,000 Sponsorship

$500 Supporter

$100 Cost of Attendance - Cover the cost of one individual to attend the Hilliard-Sizemore Research Course

In recognition of your gift, all sponsorship levels will be featured on the Hilliard-Sizemore website. Supporters and Sponsors will also be acknowledged in event promotional materials and during the event presentation. In addition to the recognition opportunities provided to Supporters and Sponsors, Vendor sponsors will receive access to a sponsorship table and an opportunity to connect with event participants at the 2026 course.

For more information on sponsorship opportunities, visit orgdislab.com/hilliard-sizemore-course or contact the Hillard Sizemore Administrative Team at Hilliard-Sizemore@msu.edu.

The Hilliard-Sizemore Research Course is co-hosted by:

